

Reaching E-Quality Employment Services

Reaching E-Quality Employment Services (REES) has been promoting the employment of people with physical disabilities and/or health conditions since 1989. REES offers a wide range of employment counselling and consultation services to both participants and employers alike.

Hiring and retaining people with physical disabilities and/or health conditions creates a new stream of hardworking, dedicated employees. Let REES take care of the ground work by pre-screening potential candidates for employment opportunities!

REES believes that collaboration with employers and other community agencies is essential. We take great pride in providing information about equitable and respectful workplace practices that contribute to the independence of people with physical disabilities and/or health conditions. Take advantage of the knowledge and resources that REES has to offer!
